NORTH PLAINS CARES...

A benefit dance was held March 22 at Jessie Mays Community Hall to raise funds for art supplies at North Plains Elementary School.

The music was presented by DT & Country. Everyone had a great night. We sold hotdogs, sodas, and water and had many raffle drawings and a 50/50 drawing.

The City Council had agreed to match whatever we brought in. I'm proud to say we raised $533 and with what the City matched $1,066 was donated to the North Plains Elementary School.

I want to thank Boomer Crawn and Margaret Reh for helping, and everyone that stayed to put tables and chairs away.

I also want to thank Councilor Teri Lenahan for stopping by and Principal Karen Murphy.

Thank you North Plains for caring.

Citywide Garage Sale May 3

The North Plains Annual Garage Sale will be held on May 3 this year. Everyone is encouraged to participate in this free event either as a buyer, a seller, or both. Spread the word to your friends and family to come out to North Plains on Saturday, May 3. This year's event is sponsored by North Plains Events Association and the City of North Plains. Visit www.npfun.org for more information.

Annual Spring Plant Sale— NP Community Garden Club Saturday, May 3

NPCGC will be selling plants at its annual sale on Saturday, May 3, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Look for the tents at Jessie Mays Community Park, two blocks west of Glencoe at 30975 NW Hillcrest Street, North Plains, OR. Thousands of healthy plants, selected and grown for this area, will be available at prices pleasing to the pocketbook, including: herbs, annuals, perennials, vegetables, succulents, and house plants. Purchase planted pots, hanging baskets, or garden art for the perfect Mother's Day gift. Funds raised from the sale support NPCGC gardening and charity projects in North Plains and Washington County. Help us support our community by making your world more beautiful.

NP Senior Center BBQ on May 3

The North Plains Senior Center will have its BBQ on the Porch fundraiser on May 3 starting at 10:00 a.m. during the Citywide Garage Sale. Burgers, hot dogs, chips, soda and water will be served for a donation only.

Clean Water Services Rate Increases

ONE WATER

More than rain water, or wastewater, or tap water, Clean Water Services and our member cities view water as a single resource that supports everything from public health to our local economy. From the rain, to the tap, to the faucet at home, it moves in one big cycle. Our job is to maintain and improve the infrastructure, innovation, and efficiency of our water resources, and with your help we're investing in a cleaner future.

Proposed Rates. Effective July 1, 2014.

Sanitary sewer rates are proposed to increase $1.15 (7%) a month for the average household. The Surface Water Management fee is proposed to increase $5.50 (8%) per month for the average household. These proposed increases will take effect July 1, 2014, and will be shared proportionately between Clean Water Services and its member cities. The increases are necessary to meet stringent federal water quality requirements, and to upgrade and maintain the community's wastewater collection and treatment facilities.

At a public meeting on June 17, the Clean Water Services Board of Directors will review the proposed budget and rates. Your comments are welcome. For more information, please visit cleanwaterservices.org/budget.

Annual Spring Cleanup: Junk Materials, Document Shredding, and Charitable Donations

If you find yourself left with lots of junk after your garage sale on the 3rd, cheer up. You can still get rid of it the following Saturday, May 10. Our Annual Spring Cleanup will be held again at the Jessie Mays parking lot from 8:00–11:00 a.m. This year sees the return of junk collection – as well as charitable donations of gently used items – at Jessie Mays parking lot. Paper shredding for limited quantities will be available there from 9 – 11 a.m. and Recology/Oregon Compost is accepting yard debris at their North Plains location, free of charge for residents of the City (9570 NW 307th Avenue).

Did you know?

Residents of North Plains pay no fee for yard debris drop-off – it's a free service offered year-round by Recology/Oregon Compost.

A Message from North Plains Police Chief Bill Snyder

The North Plains Police Department has been advised that citizens are receiving phone calls from various individuals who are attempting to gain personal information and/or payments.

BE ALERT, BE ADVISED, these types of calls are oftentimes performed by individuals who are attempting to commit fraud and identity theft against the person answering the phone.

BE AWARE, NEVER give your personal information to anyone over the phone. DO NOT give callers information about your bank account, pin numbers, Social Security number or any other type of identifying information.

Phone Scam Thieves are just that "Thieves." Their goal is to trick you into giving them money and information. If you receive a call, protect yourself, your information and DO NOT SEND MONEY!

If you receive a phone call, always verify who the caller truly is. DO NOT use a phone number the caller provides you to call back as verification. Usually numbers provided by the thief will go to a voice recording. Call your local police department to verify any solicitation.

If you have sent money or believe that you are a victim of this type of crime, please call dispatch at (503) 629-0111 and report the incident.

234th Army Band, Oregon Army National Guard

Summer in North Plains is going to be full of fun activities for friends and families. Mark your calendars for Wednesday, July 16, 2014 at 6:30 p.m. for a fabulous concert in the park to be performed by the 234th Army Band. The 234th performed for us last year and provided an incredible show. Don't miss out this year—mark your calendar today.

Kúkátónón Children's African Dance Troupe

On Saturday, April 14th, drums could be heard pounding out an energetic African dance rhythm. The sound floated from Jessie Mays Community Hall where the Kúkátónón Children's African Dance Troupe gave a great performance for the fifty-plus audience members. Rescheduled due to February snow, the Troupe was in town as part of the Friends of the North Plains Public Library One Book, One Community program. The dancers were enthusiastic and talented, ranging in age from about 2nd to 8th grade, and their performance showcased not only dance but some traditional music. They have additional performances around the Portland/Metro area if you missed this one – dates can be found on their website kukatonondancetroupe.com.

Some of the younger performers await their turn.

Donate to the 2014 Fireworks Show!

We hope to bring another great fireworks show to the community. This year the City is raising funds for the fireworks -- and a 20-minute display will cost approximately $10,000.

NORTH PLAINS 7-YEAR-OLD FIGHTS KIDNEY CANCER

Saturday, May 31st a “Rally for Ruby” fundraiser featuring a golf tournament, raffle, silent auction, putting contest and dinner will be held at Sunset Grove Golf Course in Forest Grove. All proceeds raised will go toward Ruby’s fight against kidney cancer.

Ruby, youngest daughter of Dan and Angie Reese of North Plains, was diagnosed in February with Wilms Tumor, a childhood kidney cancer. Her entire right kidney is consumed by the tumor and there is also one small tumor in her lung. She is receiving three chemotherapy drugs to shrink the grapefruit-sized tumor since it is much too large and entwined into major blood vessels to remove immediately. Then she will undergo removal of the kidney and tumor, radiation and 6 more months of chemotherapy.

Everyone is welcome, so come out and join in the day or fun that will further help support Ruby and her family!

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS FOR THE RALLY, May 31st

- 12 – 6 p.m. Raffle and Silent Auction
- 12:30 p.m. Golf Tournament (9 holes)
- 2 – 3:30 p.m. Putting Contest
- 4 – 6 p.m. Dinner

COST

- Golf Tournament $30 for 9 holes plus dinner; sign up team by May 19th
- Dinner Only Adults, $12; Kids, $7 (Chicken & Ribs)

Those were the good old days...

North Plains had a hotel a hundred years ago owned by Carl Christner. This hotel’s location was directly north, across Commercial Street from the parking lot between today’s North Plains Market and the Lower Tavern. The building had a grocery store and a meat market in one corner. I suspect Andy Christner was connected to the operation of their meat market.

A 1915 story in the North Plains Optimist, a weekly newspaper of that time, tells of Andy bringing back the beef. Around 1923 Bill and Ethel Troutman bought the building and opened a grocery store there. I am going to switch over to the time my memory serves me, to about 75 years ago.

There was a fire in North Plains in 1937 that burned three buildings. This fire took out everything from where the Senior Center is today to the brick Pythian Hall. This burned the upper tavern, whose second floor had a storied reputation, and the post office. After the fire the Post Office was moved into the west side of the Troutman's Store for a time.

I remember the Troutman's daughter, Jane Ann, as a cheerful, energetic young girl always helping customers. Fritz Tschantz was a meat cutter in the store for quite a while. Troutman's had a slaughter house down by McKay Creek.

By the time I was in grade school, Troutman's had refrigeration, something that Mays Brothers store lacked at that time. My parents had space rented in a frozen food locker there and I would go in with my mother. The store sold Dromedary ice cream and kept their supply in a space we would have to walk by. It was tough for a kid to go by all of that ice cream and not get any, never!

I think it was in the mid 1940's that Troutman's built a small diner to the east that was joined to the store building by a few steps on one end. This restaurant resembled a box car.

I was only in this diner a few times. Seems there was only a counter and stools to sit on. Sometimes the train would stop and the crew would walk up to the diner for lunch. Some of the local farmers would take their harvest crew there to eat.

I can remember being up in the Pythian Hall, waiting for my mother to get out of a Pythian Sisters meeting, and looking down at Troutman's Store and the little diner at night. That picture is still in my mind.

Just above the diner, across the street from the now Rogue Pub, was a small building used as a beauty shop by Blanche Stewart. This shop had three chairs, two hairdryers and a shake like exterior. To get a permanent wave here in those days was quite a process.

Merritt Jackson owned a garage on Commercial Street. Merritt was a descendant of the Ulysses Jackson family. Ulysses came to the Oregon Territory in the fall of 1848 and secured Donation Land Claim number 47 for 640 acres. This area extended from North Avenue to up beyond the Pumpkin Ridge Golf Course and cornered on Pumpkin Ridge Road to the northwest. This Jackson family is very prominent in local history.

Merritt Jackson could fix almost anything. He once put a hydraulic hoist on my brother's 1935 Chevrolet farm truck. There was a chain hoist in Merritt's garage that I loved to play with. The garage burned once and was rebuilt. Abbey Creek Winery uses the building today.

When the garage burned, there was a lot of hunting ammunition stored inside. Exploding shells kept the fireman at a distance.

To the right of the garage was a weathered old building that was just large enough to hold North Plains' first school bus. This building leaned a bit to the east. I can't remember a front door on it.

The house just east of the Jackson Garage was the site of the telephone switchboard in the 1930's and 1940's. In earlier days the telephone operation may have had another location.

I have a 1919 Pacific Telephone and Telegraph telephone directory that had been mailed with a one-cent stamp. This is a 9x6 inch heavy paper book and covers an area from Cornelius to Scappoose. The phone numbers are on both side, a few over 200. I still have the hand crank wall telephone that was used in my grandfather's house. His number was 10 F11. To ring that number it would be one long crank that would ring a bell for the 10, two short cranks, or rings, signified the 11. The F stood for a farm line.

There were what were called party lines, ten or more homes on the same line. If you wanted to call someone on a different line, you would ring Central, the person on the switchboard, and give her the number you wanted to reach. She would then plug you into the other line. When your phone rang, anyone on that line would hear it and could listen in. And did!

Central, the person working the switchboard, knew everything that was going on in the community. She knew who was in the hospital, and how they were doing, where the field fire was yesterday, or if anyone was hurt in the car wreck by Starkey's Corner.

At that time the customers and farmers owned and were responsible for maintaining the telephone lines. When a call went into the switchboard was when the Pacific Telephone Company system took over.

Many men kept a long pole handy that was used to untangle the wires after a storm. One member of the Luck family up Dairy Creek was found dead in the creek after being out working on the telephone line.

I think it was about 1947 that a company took over the whole telephone operation. Dial phones came in and the old hand crank wall phones were a thing of the past.

World Health Organization:

World No Tobacco Day

Every year on May 31st, World Health Organization (WHO) and partners everywhere mark World No Tobacco Day, highlighting the health risks associated with tobacco use and advocating for effective policies to reduce tobacco consumption. Tobacco use remains the single most preventable cause of death globally and locally. One in 10 adults worldwide loses their life to tobacco use and secondhand smoke exposure.

The ultimate goal of World No Tobacco Day is to contribute to protecting present and future generations from the devastating health consequences due to tobacco, but also from the social, environmental and economic scourges of tobacco use and exposure to tobacco smoke. In an effort to promote a culture of tobacco-free living and reduce exposure to secondhand smoke, the City of North Plains adopted a 100% tobacco-free and smokefree policy for all City-owned and leased properties, including park and recreation areas, parking lots and City-sponsored events, as well banned the sale of electronic cigarettes to minors.

If you or anyone you know is ready to quit using tobacco, even just for one day, the Oregon Tobacco Quit Line can help:

Volunteer Recognition Night and Spaghetti Dinner

Jessie Mays was filled to the brim with volunteers and well-wishers at the annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner. The North Plains Senior Center provided a great dinner of spaghetti, bread and a lovely green salad. Awards were presented to Brenda Lyon for Volunteer of the Year; Ryan Ward for Teen Volunteer of the Year; Sherrie Simmons received the Lifetime Achievement award; and Special Public Service Awards went to Washington County Fire District Battalion Chief-17 Mike Thompson and North Plains Police Officer Tim Thurber. Thank you to all our volunteers and the many hours that are contributed to our great community.
